7 Will Be Installed Into Pi Kappa Delta

Seven Wartburg debaters will be honored this weekend by being installed into membership in Pi Kappa Delta, national forensics honorary society.

Students who will be initiated into Pi Kappa Delta are juniors Walter Buenning, Lois Reyelts and Roger Prehn, and sophomores Sue Stueber, Connie Meyer, Judy Maxwell and Jan De Neui.

Academic Standing Counts

Membership in Pi Kappa Delta is granted on the basis of academic standing of the student as well as his particpation in forensic events.

To qualify, a student must maintain high scholastic standing and have participated in not less than 12 recognized debates with other accredited colleges and universities. He must also have earned a rating of excellent in 70 per cent of those debates.

Receiving of this honor marks a milestone in the development of the Wartburg forensics program, according to Donald Douglas, forensics director. This is the first time since 1936 that an Iowa college has been honored by being voted membership in this national honorary organization.

Honor Indicates Caliber

"Since Wartburg has had a forensics program for only the past two years, the honor of receiving membership in Pi Kappa Delta is especially indicative of the high caliber students participating in Wartburg's program," said Douglas.

Dr. Paul Dover, province governor of Pi Kappa Delta, stated in his letter to Douglas, "The decision on your installation was the immediate result of a unanimous vote of the province chapters favoring your charter application.

"Your own background, the evidence of an active program that you prove and the reputation of Wartburg College makes significant your addition to Pi Kappa Delta."

Banquet Will Be Held Tonight

Installation of the Wartburg chapter of Pi Kappa Delta will take place this evening with a banquet in the Castle Room of the Student Union.

Dr. Theodore Nelson, chairman of the department of speech and drama at St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn., and past national president of the forensics honorary society, will be here to conduct the installation services.

Douglas said that he would like to take this opportunity to publicly pay his respects to those students who have done such an outstanding job in representing Wartburg College in intercollegiate forensic competition.

"If it were not for the kind of students we have at Wartburg and the help and support of the faculty and staff at Wartburg College, we could not be receiving this honor of Pi Kappa Delta at the present time," he said.

Dyer-Bennet To Appear Tomorrow Evening

Twentieth Century troubadour and minstrel, Richard Dyer-Bennet, will be featured in the final Artist Series presentation of the year tomorrow evening. Original tunes and American folk songs will be included in his repertory. Program will begin at 8 p.m. in the Chapel-auditorium.

He participated in the Protestant Religious Missions conducted by the U. S. Air Forces in Europe in 1964.

Stringfellow and Rogness will both be on campus for two days, allowing time for students to meet and talk with them.

Co-Chairmen Term Snow Weekend A Success

An ice skating rink helped give Snow Weekend's "Alpine Village" a wintery atmosphere, as well as a place to skate. An even more authentic touch was provided by Bourbon, a St. Bernard puppy, here pulling senior Arlyn Ristau along with him to inspect the campus.

A campus overflowing with students and guests contributed to the success of Snow Weekend, Feb. 25-28. Attendance at all events was large and enthusiastic, according to co-chairmen Dave Wegenast, junior, and Laird Yock, sophomore.

Over nine hundred persons attended "On Broadway Tonight," the student variety program of Friday night. Soloists, chorus and band presented a number of Broadway hits.

Snow sculptures were judged at noon Saturday. Faculty members Miss Nancy Mista, Physical Education Department; Raymond Norheim, History Department; and Dr. Leo Petri, Biology Department, served as judges. Three $5 prizes were awarded.

Clinton Wins Motif Award

Clearest motif award was won by Clinton Hall for "Alpine Rescue," a sculpture of a St. Bernard dog.

"Zum Wohl, Wartburg," a Swiss beer stein sculptured by the junior class, won the award for best technique.

Wartburg Hall won the award for the most original sculpture. "Wouldn't It Be Mice and Cheesy If We Beat Luther?" showed a mouse sitting atop a slab of Swiss cheese.

Peter Palmer's band provided music for nearly 350 persons at the dance, "La Terre des Alps," Saturday night. The 14-instrument, 4-voice group also presented a 45-minute program.

200 Attend "Yodeler's Holiday"

"Yodeler's Holiday" was a program presented by Castle Singers Sunday afternoon. Members of the group were dispersed among the audience of approximately two hundred.

Winner of $15 in "Alpinasearch" was junior Wayne Strohschein. He found the unknown object, a three-inch pearl knife, in a snow bank on the north side of the ice skating rink.

Following the search, refreshments were served. Activities of Snow Weekend terminated at "Junior League of Rations," a supper sponsored by the junior class.

Kingston Trio To Perform

Kingston Trio has been selected to perform for the Spring Pops Concert which will be Sunday, May 2, at 8 p.m., according to junior Roger Prehn, chairman of the Pops Concert committee.

Following their first big hit, "Tom Dooley," the group has enjoyed increasing popularity from their hit records, albums and personal appearances.

After replacing Dave Guard, who was originally with the group, the trio now consists of John Stewart, Nick Reynolds and Bob Shane.

Uniqueness of the trio is established through their approach to material. Each song they sing is modified to fit their style. This style involves vocal and instrumental blends with featured solo parts.

Songs of the Kingston Trio are "presented with conviction, wit and a skillful sense of drama," said one commentator.

The trio has in past performances managed to supplement their songs with "patter-chatter" and by so doing has kept its audience in laughter and high spirits.

Elections Drawing Near

It won't be long until nominations and elections for student body officers will begin. In fact, only about a month remains to make the decision of whether or not to run for an office.

For the past two years, not more than two people have run for the office of student body president. And over three candidates seems to be an unheard of amount for any office. Certainly too many nominations should not be encouraged, but a few more people running for each office could sharpen issues and give people a real choice.

Grade Point Of 2.5

To be eligible for the office of student body president, vice president, secretary or treasurer, a student must be a junior and have a grade point average of 2.5 for the past three semesters, the last semester of which he must have been enrolled at Wartburg. In addition, he must plan to attend Wartburg College for both semesters of the following year.

Taking these qualifications into consideration, one might say it would seem that several people possess them. Yet how many of these people will decide to run for office?

For some people, a student body office would simply require too much time. For others it wouldn't be worth the work involved.

Many People Complain

A lot of people complain about the lack of choice in elections, but they never run for office themselves or encourage someone they feel is qualified to run.

Next year the student body president and secretary will receive remuneration for their work. Perhaps this will encourage more people to run.

Nevertheless, someone has to get the job. If we don't encourage people we feel are qualified to run, then we have no right to complain about the election or the person who wins. The opportunity is ours. The election is in April.

Chairmen Thank Weekend Helpers

To The Editor:

One of the major social weekends at Wartburg has again passed by, but a word of thanks must be expressed to all those who helped in making Snow Weekend a success.

We would like to take this opportunity to express our appreciation to the members of the central committee who gave much of their time and effort in planning the various activities of the weekend.

Also a word of thanks to the Castle Singers, the musical production cast and crew, those students who worked on snow sculptures and those students who aided in decorating for the dance.

A special thanks goes to Mr. Earnest Oppermann for the time he spent with us in planning the details for the weekend and for his efforts on the coronation and musical production.

Why Do I Believe?

By FRED HOLZRICHTER

You ask why I believe? I believe because I know how it feels to be caught in the mire of skepticism. I am naked and I need clothes. I'm a cripple and I need a crutch. I've hated God and His Church but I'm hungry and I need food.

You ask why I believe? I believe because my intellect tells me that Christianity is an unfounded myth. I believe because I am caught in the world of no exit. I'm caught in the web of a world that is cold and cruel. I'm in the middle of the dog - eat - dog society of Christians.

I'm a part of the world of birth control and hydrogen bombs, and psychoanalysis and suicide, of rape and smut, and of hypocrisy and timid tidiness.

Men Cheat

You ask why I believe? I believe because I know that men cheat. I know that men lie and steal. I know that man is sick. I know because I can sense the very illness of my own body and mind. I look around and see people who appear contented and learn that they are rotting within.

I meet a person who is a dope addict and my insides revolt. I meet a so - called perverted individual and my confusion mounts. I see the literature of the times and see the pornography and hear the little dirty jokes and I'm sick.

I'm sick of this world -- my world. I'm sick of myself and I'm sick of you. I'm weak and I need help. And you ask why I believe?

Sees Man On Cross

You ask why I believe? There is a man on a cross over an altar. I saw him one night when I felt sorry for myself. It was in a church somewhere, just an arrangement of bricks and materials, but quiet and serene. That man knew what pain was.

The holes in his hands proved that to me. The crown of thorns piercing his forehead, the slit in his side and the morbid look in his eyes shot his suffering through me.

You ask why I believe. I believe because I took that man and that cross and put them in my mind or in my heart or wherever it is that he dwells in my being.

Receives Power To Live

I believe because I received the power to live in this rotten world . . . my rotten world . . . when I put the arrangement of bricks inside of myself and experienced the quiet and serenity that resulted.

You ask why I believe? I have hurled the cynic's stone and I have fought with all my strength, but in losing I have gained the strength, the crutch, the food, the clothing of one who believes.

And now I can live in this world . . . my world of faith, hope and love. You ask why I believe . . . and I thank God that I do.

Don't Take A Harp To Hoot

By DICK McCABE

Shazam! I'm writing this column during the Hootenanny. Don't think I'm pleased about being thrown out for bringing my jew's harp.

If anyone knows the person who keeps having his mail sent to my box number, inform him that he ought to clarify his address with his correspondents and that his sister has the flu.

McCabe

Except for a semi-weekly proposal from "Better Homes and Gardens," my mail has been nonexistent the past few weeks. My parents wrote quite regularly before then, but I could tell that their crayons were wearing down.

--0--

Perhaps no one is getting any mail. It would be the third time this month that the Injuns have got the rider from Waterloo.

I went up to the Hill to get a postcard of Iowa to send home and found that the only color pictures they had were longitudinal views and cross sections of hybrid corn seeds.

I wrote home yesterday to let my parents know I'd be home for summer break two weeks after they received my letter.

I also mentioned that we got the Des Moines Register last Tuesday with the good news that the Civil War was finally over, and that the U. S. government was winning the territorial claim dispute over Iowa from the Kellogg Company.

I was down at Roy's last week listening to two local Hawkeyes discussing the latest. One stated that he hoped for the sake of mankind what he'd heard about the Wright Brothers wasn't true, while the other questioned the use of decals by the John Deere Company.

Both agreed that the most excitement they'd ever known in the area was when it was discovered that the Iowa NFO president was a squatter.

Their discussion was followed by a heated argument as to which of them received the most money from the government for not raising corn that year, and as to the specific time of the next meeting of the local chapter of the Brotherhood of Amish.

I don't mean to insinuate that Iowa's isolated, but word has it that this is the only place in North America that Walt Disney doesn't have photographers. Our theme for convo may be "City of Necessity," but our entire existence here is in a state of necessity.

Iowa was the only state the North wanted to secede from the Union. Why Malcolm W. Wartburg, or whoever established our school, thought to come to Iowa I'll never know, unless it was to create an academic Walden Pond.

It seems strange how a place like Iowa could be so close to such famous places as Illinois -- the promised land, Minnesota--the mecca of Midwest culture and Wisconsin--the land of the midnight fun.

Still there's always something to say for Iowa weather, and I've been warned that the next time I say it I'll have to face the dorm council.

Well, my cuts have been too deep and unjustified at Iowa and all concerned. I actually admire the people and respect the state, enough so that I have taken the initiative of collecting donations for Radio-Free Iowa.

And if there are any highly distempered Iowans here at school, let it be known that I'm now in the guerilla forces on Coney Island and will not be available for consultation or butchering. Ten-four.

Knights Drop Close Game To UIU

Upper Iowa University sent Wartburg down to defeat in a hard-fought Iowa Conference game at Fayette, last night, 78-88.

It was the 13th loop victory for the Iowa Conference champions, who have lost only two games in league play.

Wartburg dropped into a tie for third place with Central in the final league standings, both teams finishing with 10-6 marks in conference action.

Knights Trail 76-77

With 3:40 left in the game Wartburg trailed only 76-77, but a long jump shot by Jim Crabtree and four quick free throws put the game out of reach of the Knights.

Battling back from deficits of 8-0, 12-2 and 36-28, Wartburg trailed at half-time by a slim 36-38 score.

Failure to score at the free throw line proved fatal for the Knights as they missed seven in a row and nine of twelve in the first half.

Wartburg dominated the boards throughout the game. At one point the hard courters held Upper Iowa without a rebound for five minutes.

Largest Lead 64-61

Largest lead of the game for the Knights was with 8:48 left when Lowell Syverson dropped in a lay-up for a 64-61 score.

A couple of costly errors on the part of the Knights and some fine ball control gave the Peacocks their final 10-point victory.

Cliff Cameron closed out his college career with 24 points and some good defensive play. He was followed by John Hearn with 17 and Dennis Bowman with 10.

Albers Top For UIU

Larry Albers led Upper Iowa with 23 points.

Upper Iowa will represent District 15 in the National College Tournament at Kansas City, Mo., next week.

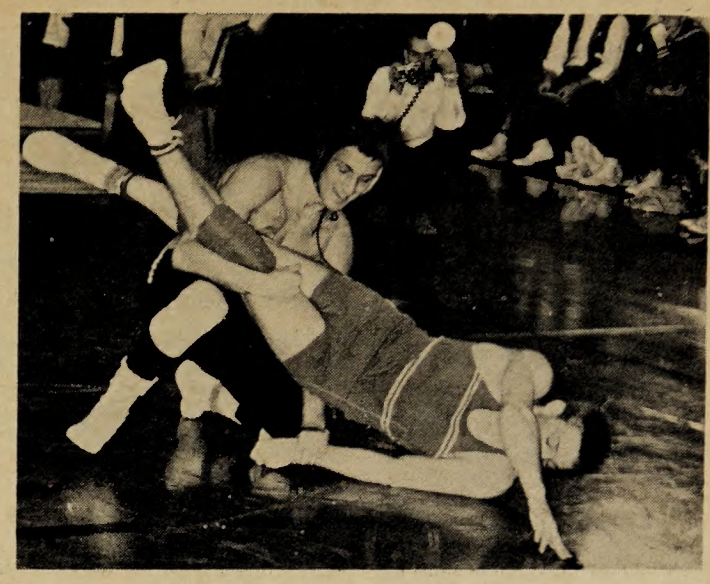
Last Saturday night Wartburg won a wild 114-101 game from Luther's Norse before a capacity crowd.

It was the second time in a week that Wartburg broke the former school point-total record. It was also the third consecutive home game in which the Knights have scored more than one hundred points.

6 Seniors End Careers

Six seniors wrapped up their collegiate careers for the Knights last night.

They are center Cliff Cameron of Muscatine, forward Harold Shudlick of Rice Lake, Wis., forward Paul Zietlow of Fontanelle, forward Doyle Burn of Dumont, guard Bob Nielsen of Britt and guard Jerome Hemenway of Toluca, Ill.



Conference Champ In Action

Matmen Produce 2 Champs, Placing Second In Tourney

Wartburg's Dave Long at 137 pounds, and Jim Brandau at 157 pounds emerged as conference champions at the Iowa Conference Wrestling Championship held here last Saturday. Wartburg finished second to Luther in team standing.

Luther finished with a total of 75 points, Wartburg had 53 points, Dubuque was close behind with 50 points, Simpson had 28 points and Upper Iowa tallied 11 points.

Dubuque, beating Wartburg and Luther by good margins during the regular season, was a slight favorite to win the championship.

Luther Has 7 In Finals

However, the defending champions from Luther put seven men in the finals and emerged with four champions to prove that they weren't ready to relinquish their throne.

Placing second in the meet for Wartburg were Bob Bye in the 130-pound class and Larry Snitker in the 167-pound class.

Third place finishers for Wartburg were Dale Wehling in the 123-pound class, Mike Tower in the 147-pound class, and Terry Tellefson in the 177-pound class.

Jo Has Successful Season

Although Coach Norm Johansen feels that this past season has been extremely successful, he is already looking forward to next season.

He should have all of this season's wrestling squad back with the exception of heavyweight Dave Fredrick, the only senior on this year's conference runner-up team.

Trackmen Place 3rd In Triangular Meet After Dropping Dual Contest To Coe

State College of Iowa trackmen left Wartburg and Parsons "clawin' clay" at Latham Fieldhouse Wednesday evening as the Panthers raced and jumped their way to a 120-point indoor track victory.

Parsons finished with 23, while the Knights held up the bottom of the Cedar Falls triangular with 19.

Wednesday's encounter was the second indoor meet for the Knights this year. Last weekend they met, but were defeated by Coe College in Cedar Rapids, 58-37.

2 Firsts At SCI

Wartburg managed two firsts at SCI. All other top spots went to the Panthers. Joel Niemann topped the field at the six-foot level in high jump competition, while Jack Fistler ran the 60-yd. dash in a winning time of :06.5.

Rick Hauck picked up three more points when he finished third in the 440-yd. dash. Three more counters came with Joel Niemann for third place in the 60 - yd. high hurdles. Jon Thieman also won third in the 1000-yd. run, a new event this year.

Fourth place point getters for the Knights were Tom Baumgarten, two mile run; Jack Fistler, 60-yd. low hurdles and Kurt Weiland in the pole vault event.

First High Bar Attempt

It was the first time the Knights attempted the high bar this year. Weiland dropped out of competition at 12 feet. SCI's George McBee won the event at 13 feet.

Knight Coach Dave Olson said that Weiland, a freshman, has the makings of a good vaulter and with a few more meets could be rough competition for the top spot in that event.

Bill Rauhauser of SCI set a new record in the triple jump. He traveled 45' 5" on the hop, skip and jump breaking his own record of 44' 1" set last year. Wartburg does not compete in the triple jump.

Becker's Blunders

What Can You Expect?

By MIKE BECKER

Last weekend Wartburg had much to be proud of and Luther had equally as much to be ashamed of. I decided to wait a couple of days to write this column so that I could cool off a little after Luther's debacle last Saturday night.

For Luther fans to make fools of themselves before 2000 fans from all over Iowa on the night that their "sister" institution, Wartburg, was honoring their retiring coach took courage. But the Luther fans were up to the occasion. Piling into the gym with a contingent of about fifty of what had to be Luther's finest intellects, they proceeded to entertain the crowd for the rest of the evening.

Becker

Highlight of the night had to be their daring raid on the pep band by two or three of the Norsemen who were suffering from an attack of the "d. t.'s." With the skill and daring so common to the Norsemen, they waddled into the pep band and stole our beloved bass drum. Their next move being equally intelligent, they brought this bass drum on to the gym floor and into the stands.

Here they thought they were safe, for surely no one in the crowd of 2000 noticed this bit of thievery. But they were wrong. The long arm of Officer Shinn apprehended them. May they live in peace while they save their pennies to pay for their clever destruction.

Taking everything into consideration, it was a fine weekend for the Knights. In the wrestling tournament we took a second over-all, winning two conference championships in the process, placing second in two others and winning three other consolation championships.

Our conference champs were Dave Long and Jim Brandau. By winning the conference, Brandau proved himself the Knights' top fighter, with Long a close second. Jim had a near unbeatable record in dual meets and topped this off by winning the conference. Bob Bye and Larry Snitker were our two second-place finishers.

Bob wrestled the best grappler in the meet by far in the person of Davis Johnson of Luther. Winning consolation championships were Dale Wehling, Mike Tower and Terry Tellefson. Wehling beat last year's conference champ by the score of 5-0 and punished him quite a bit in the process. Congratulations to the wrestlers and Coach Norm Johansen.

Anyone who saw the basketball game doesn't need to have the story retold. Tremendous efforts by the entire team and a good coaching job by substitute John Kurtt brought the Knights home victorious. This was another 100-plus night to make it four in a row for the Knights.

Cliff Cameron racked up 38 points to miss the scoring record by just four points. Cliff made it look so easy no one even guessed he was that close to the record. He was given able support on the firing line by Lowell Syverson and John Hearn. It was a fine one to win and set the tone for the whole weekend.

Here is my latest installment on that sport of sports--girl watching. I'm dealing with the touchy subject of figures. Without further adieu, my two nominees here are Barbara Scofield (Faculty) and Leta Steffenhagen (Clinton I). Watch next week for the final results in this sport of searching for the perfect girl.

Also watch next week for my All I-M team, chosen by my panel of experts.

Ketha Wins I-M Title

By ED ROACH

Ketha took the I-M basketball title Thursday night defeating Grossmann III 77-62. The game represented the culmination of the cage program which began shortly after Christmas recess. Ketha represented the American League, and Grossmann III was from the National circuit.

Grossmann III earned a spot in the championship game by eliminating Married Men 54-51. Married Men scored more field goals than the Grossmann III men, but free throws more than made up the difference.

Bill Anderegg topped all scorers with 20 points, while Jerry Meister led victorious Grossmann III with a 13-point performance.

Ketha Pulls Away

In the championship game, Ketha's lead was interrupted several times before pulling away in the third quarter. Credit for the win goes to offensive rebounding in the second half.

At half-time Grossmann III was ahead 33-30. Ketha then went ahead with a 21-point splurge.

High scorer for the Ketha "machine" was Rog Kittleson with 14 points. Leading all scorers was Fritz Spenn with 25 points for the rangy Grossmann III aggregation.

Contracts Let Wednesday For Addition To Clinton Hall

Contracts were let Wednesday for a 149-bed addition to Clinton Hall, pending final approval of a $421,000 loan from the Housing and Home Finance Agency of the Community Facilities Administration, College Housing Program.

Low bids for the addition totaled $308,423, nearly $60,000 below the original estimate of $368,000. Ten firms bid on the general contract, four on the mechanical and six on the electrical.

R. D. Stewart, Inc., of Marshalltown was awarded the general construction contract with a bid of $224,895. Other contracts went to Young Plumbing and Heating of Waterloo, mechanical construction, $58,700; and Brayton Electric of Waverly, electrical, $24,828.

Preliminary approval of the HHFA loan has been given, but final word is not expected from Washington until later this month. The loan sum will cover all fees and contingencies as well as actual construction cost, according to Pres. John W. Bachman.

Attached to the south end of Clinton Hall, the building will have some new features. Hallway areas will be carpeted in an effort to reduce noise.

Individual thermostats will be installed in each room, including the original structure. Combination storm and screen sashes will also be used in the new addition.

April 1 has been set as the tentative starting date for construction. "Every possible effort will be made to have the four story addition completed by Sept. 1," said Dr. Bachman.

Applications for the seminar are being limited to 150 Lutheran students from theological seminaries, teachers colleges and Lutheran and non-Lutheran colleges throughout the nation.

A registration fee of $25.00 includes housing and all meals except Sunday evening.

A Post-Seminar Day at the U.N. is also being planned, beginning April 14. Cost for this trip will be approximately twelve dollars, including transportation to and from New York, housing for one night and three meals.

Three Plays Next Weekend To Deal With SEW Theme

Three one-act plays will be presented in connection with Spiritual Emphasis Week under the direction of John Gill, director of the Wartburg College Theatre. The plays will be given next Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights.

Each of the plays has the basic underlying themes of Spiritual Emphasis Week, loneliness and death.

"Something Unspoken," by Tennessee Williams, is student directed by junior Barb Nelson. Cast includes senior Lolly Wesenberg and sophomore Roberta Getzloff. It is a study of the loneliness and frustration of a spinster Southern lady and her companion-secretary.

Sophomore Al Lyndrup student directs "The Zoo Story," a play presenting an episode between two men who meet in Central Park. Junior Roger Baumgardner and senior Gaylord Odegaard are in the cast.

This play, written by Edward Albee, is a study of bitterness and loneliness which are brought about through frustration. "The Zoo Story" is currently running off-Broadway in New York City.

"The Lesson" is a tragic comedy written by Eugene Ionesco. It is a satire on certain elements of education. Included in the cast are senior Dan Moeller, junior Sue Sutliff and sophomore Jane Koob. Student director is junior Kathy Bishop.

Participating faculty members will include Ronald Matthias and Dr. Gerhard Ottersberg, History Department; F. O. Kile, Religion Department; and Dr. P. A. Kildahl, English Department.
